FEATURED PROGRAM

U. S. POSTAL INSPECTORS

RONALD ZIELINSKI

ROGER BRADFORD

Identity theft is America's fastest-growing crime.

Last year alone, more than 9.9 million Americans were victims of identity theft, a crime that cost them roughly $5 billion. The number of ID theft victims and their total losses are probably much higher. It's hard to pin down, because law enforcement agencies may classify ID theft differently--it can involve credit card fraud, Internet fraud, or mail theft, among other crimes.

The FTC reported that only four percent of victims cited stolen mail as the source of personal information. Even so, U.S. Postal Inspectors, charged with protecting the nation's mail system from criminal misuse, are leaders in the fight against identity theft.

Identity theft is a criminal offense. It occurs when a person knowingly transfers or uses, without lawful authority, a means of identification of another person with the intent to commit or to aid or abet any unlawful activity that constitutes a violation of federal law or that constitutes a felony under any applicable state or local law.

Postal Inspectors provide these ID theft tips:

- Review your consumer credit reports annually.
- Shred and destroy unwanted documents that contain personal information.
- Deposit mail in U.S. Postal Service collection boxes.
- Don't leave mail in your mailbox overnight or on weekends.

Who is LifeLock?

LifeLock is a proactive identity theft protection agency, specializing in prevention of identity theft rather than the reporting of it. LifeLock was founded in 2005 and is already considered the industry leader.

Our management team and staff did solid research for more than three years which we used to develop our system. We also built relationships with the right organizations, including the Better Business Bureau and TrustE. Our goal was to lock down every individual's private information so no one except that individual can approve its use.

We've been so successful at this that, without qualms, our CEO Todd Davis publishes his Social Security number in our advertising.

Our Total Service Guarantee is simple. In the unfortunate event your identity is misused while you are a LifeLock member, we will reimburse direct expenses you incur and pay professionals to resolve the problem for you – up to $1 million!
